Sean Barton
PAP1601
01/31/2016

Week 4 Summary Report

Week 4 is the final week of the Project & Portfolio Development course. The first assignment due this week was the same as each week, from the previous week, The Burn-Up List. The next assignment for was the weekly Anchor Point assignment. The assignment following that was the weekly Call-To-Action, Growth! This assignment provided some challenge in using the Full Sail library as I have never previously used that tool. The SWOT Follow-up assignment was next. This provided very similar results to the first SWOT assignment

The most interesting assignment of the week was the Being Paid for Your Work assignment. This made me realize how much I was underestimating my own time and will help in future projects. The last two assignments were the weekly Project and Portfolio, which is this assignment as well as the Month in Review assignment. The Month in Review assignment was a synopsis of my own accord of the course and how I felt it benefitted me.

GitHub link: https://github.com/swb1984/Barton_Sean_Portfolio